Target audience

Teachers of English and all languages who teach primary and secondary

You will need an intermediate level of English (B1 or above) to participate in this course.

Course summary

This intensive professional development course is designed to equip Primary English language teachers with innovative and practical teaching strategies to teach in the 21st Century. We will look at how to introduce the Sustainable Development Goals to our young learners so that the world can be a better place. By doing hands-on activities, learners can see how they can make a difference and develop their agency both at school and outside school. We will focus on the needs of teachers to develop creativity, critical thinking, self-esteem, as well as to attain personal and professional fulfilment. We will also explore strategies to support the teaching of other subjects in English.

The aim is to think ahead and engage our future generation with principles and practices which connect learners to the real world to act as agents of change. By the end of the course, participants will have expanded their teaching toolkit with fresh techniques to enrich their ELT classrooms to meet 21st century challenges.
